Memphis, Tenn., April 4.—Anxiety over the flood situation this morning centers about Cairo, Ill., where the Ohio and Mississippi rivers last night crushed two levees. Today, nine square miles of the Cairo drainage district are submerged. Future City, a town of 500 persons, is inundated and the score of industrial plants, principally saw mills, are drowned out. Except for one line, the Illinois Central Railroad, Cairo is cut off from railway communication. The city proper, however, is not in greater danger than it was yesterday.

Main Levees Hold.
The main levees are still intact and those diking the light are confident that the guards will hold. The Mobile and Ohio levees on the east side of the river, were the first to go out last night. A gap two hundred feet wide was torn in the embankment. Several hours later the Big Four levee on the Ohio river broke. Four hundred laborers were harnessed on this levee but were rescued by the steamship "Marguerite."

Wallo showing the effect of the flood all the main lines of levees in Arkansas, Tennessee, and Mississippi are reported intact but it is conceded that a hard fight must be made especially in the upper St. Francis district to save the embankment.

New Breaks in Levees.
The Tennessee levee west of Hickman, Ky., which protects the Redfoot Lake region, is crumbling to some extent and the water is washing its crest back. It is thought that the levee can be saved.

At Mar Landing, Arkansas, opposite Lake Comman, Mississippi, the bank is caving near the base and govern-ment forces are being concentrated at that point. South of Memphis the flood has not reached the acute stage. In Memphis the flood district is in the northern section of the city and is steadily increasing in length and breadth. Organized relief work for those rendered homeless will be in-creased today.

Relief Train Coming.
Hickman, Ky., April 4.—Flood re-fugees were cheered after an all night shift at the levee by the announcement that a train would reach Hickman this afternoon bringing food and clothing.

Situation Desperate.

Hickman faces a desperate situation unless outside aid is given. The relief funds contributed are exhausted and the city treasury is empty. Three thousand people are homeless here. The city borrowed $20,000 from a local bank to pay express charges on the 200 government tents which arrived on the first train since the levee broke. These and the seventy tents furnished by the state are being erected in the highlands this morning. They will relieve the congested condition of the refugees who have taken quarters also in churches, school houses, halls and barns.

Passes Flood.
Cincinnati, O., April 4.—The Ohio river passed the flood stage here last night. At nine this morning the gauge registered 50.6 which was .6 of a foot above the flood mark.

At New Madrid.
New Madrid, Mo., April 4.—Business is at a standstill here today because it has been since Sunday because of the unprecedented flood. No mail has been received this week and the two railroads into New Madrid have not moved a train since Sunday.

Wants Aid.
Mayor Conrad telegraphed Congress-man Russell that government aid is needed. One death has been reported. Only one residence has escaped having its first floor flooded off the streets, the water is from six inches to five feet deep. The public schools are open as places of refuge.

Is Rising.
St. Louis, April 4.—The Mississippi river registered 30.4 feet here today, a rise of .3 of a foot in 24 hours. It is predicted that the river will go to 31 feet by tonight and will remain steady in 21 feet for several days. The Missouri river is reported to be slowly falling.

No Opinions.
Washington, April 4.—With the Mississippi river at Memphis three feet above the high record mark and at Cairo 1.7 feet above the highest previous mark weather bureau officials today were unable to predict any cessation in the constantly rising flood be-low Cairo.

To Give Aid.
President Taft today directed the quartermaster's department of the army to furnish rations to any sufferers of the Mississippi and Missouri river floods who are found to be in want.

"You have no idea of the absurdity of our speech," said Mr. Bell. "For instance, c-o-o-n-g-h spells cow whereas p-l-o-u-g-h spells plow. A foreigner might think that c-o-o-n-g-h spelled cow, but it does not."

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Guatemala City, Guatemala, April 4.—Guatemala has not been especially punctilious in observing its obligations under the Central American peace pact of 1907, and only recently Salva-dor had occasion to complain and in-vite the good offices of the American State Department to secure her terri-torial rights against Guatemalan in-gression.

Mr. Knox evidently had this in mind when he delivered his formal address at the President's dinner re-ception. It must have required some courage after the kindly style in which he had been entertained, and surrounded by men who appeared to draw their breath by suffrance of the host, for the secretary to stand up and declare in language that could not be misunderstood that the strict adherence of Guatemala to the Wash-ington conventions was inseparable from any hope of future prosperity, advancement and peace. These con-ventions provide that disputes be-tween the five republics shall be sub-mitted to the peace tribunal at Car-tago; that no government shall in-vade the territory of another, or per-mit within their own boundaries the outfitting of revolutionary expeditions against a sister republic. The sec-etary said in part:

Paris, April 4.—The arrest of Carony, one of the automobile band-its who killed a chauffeur at Villenueve, St. Georges and held up a bank at Chantilly, ending $8,000, has not put a stop to the extensive series of highway crimes which have thril-led France for some time past. A gang of four bandits this morning leaped onto an express train's wagon in the vicinity of Cholesey-Bolet, about six miles from Paris, killed the driver by strangling him, looted the wagon of a large quantity of valuables and then tossed the corpse into the road-side. No trace of the bandits has been found.

Washington, April 4.—American Consul Edwards at Juarez has been warned by the state department to be exceedingly cautious to avoid any action which might be taken by the rebels as a recognition of their belligerency in any representations he might make to them for the release of Powell Roberts, the El Paso citizen who was arrested in Juarez.

Renewed activities of the bandits in the vicinity of Velardea, Durango, has necessitated the dispatch of ad-ditional Mexican federal troops there to protect the populace against this dan-gerous element.

American Consul Hann at Durango reported to the state department to-day that all mining operations in the state had been suspended.

Thomas C. Dawson, resident diplo-matic officer of the state department, who has been critically ill for the past fortnight, is reported today to be somewhat better.

General Francisco Villa then attacked Soto and captured him and the other chiefs with two hundred and fifty rifles, twenty thousand cartridges and one rapid fire gun.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, April 4.—Representative William Sulzer of New York, who by reason of his chairmanship of the foreign affairs committee is in con-stant touch with the state depart-ment, took open issue today with his democratic colleagues in the house who went on record against any bat-tle ship appropriation this year. He predicted that when the bill reaches the senate provision would be made for two more battleships and that the house then would accept the amend-ment. "I have never voted to cripple the navy and I never will," said Mr. Sulzer.

Porto Rican Commission Reports

Headed by Secretary of War Stim-son who acted as spokesman and intro-duced them to the committee, the members of the commission appointed by the Porto Rican government to ap-pear before the senate finance com-mittee to protest against the house free sugar bill, were heard by the committee today. Secretary Stimson testified to the growth of the sugar industry in Porto Rico since American sovereignty. He declared the free sugar bill would do Porto Rico a harmful and unjust blow and pointed out that the industry has thrived through American protection; land values had increased and wages of labor tripled. He said the United States had made Porto Rico dependant on this country.

The Indian appropriation bill carry-ing $1,750,000, was taken up in the house today. A sum of $3,000,000 is made for the extension of the reserva-tion school system and for support of schools not on reservations but in which Indian children are educated. Irrigation projects on the reservation also are taken care of to the amount of more than $800,000.

The Lodge resolution calling upon the president to send to the senate information obtained by the state de-partment in its investigation of the report that the Japanese government was seeking from Mexico a naval base at Magdalena Bay, now is said to have been a part of an adminis-tration plan to smash the constantly recurring bugaboo of Japanese in-vasion or colonization of North America. Acting Secretary of State Huntington Wilson and Representative Sulzer of New York, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, had a long conference with President Taft at the White House today.

ECONOMY KEYNOTE

PRESIDENT RECOMMENDS PAS-SAGE OF LEGISLATION WHICH WOULD SAVE NATION
$11,000,000.

A SAVING IS POSSIBLE

Consolidation of Various Offices Included in Plan of Economy and Efficiency Now Outlined.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, April 4.—President Taft today sent to Congress his second message of the present year on econ-omy and efficiency in the government service. He recommended the pas-sage of legislation designed to save more than $11,000,000 annually to the people of the United States. Prob-ably his two most striking proposals were that the local government offices in the Treasury, Postoffice, Justice, Interior and Commerce and Labor De-partments, be placed in the classified service and that the Revenue Cutter Service be consolidated with the Light-house service in the Department of Commerce and Labor.

By the first change the President said Congress could effect a saving of at least $10,000,000 annually and al-though in this message he gave no figures for the consolidation of the two services of the sea, in a previous message on the same subject only in the year, he predicted economies that would total about $1,000,000 yearly.

The President concluded his mes-sage with an appeal to Congress to appropriate the $200,000 necessary to support the Economy Efficiency Com-mission for another year with $50,000 additional for the publication of the commission's findings.

President Taft's principal recommen-dation for economies were as follows: Placing of pension agents in classi-fied service; estimated saving $65,000 annually.

Abolition of office of receiver of dis-trict land offices and transfer of duties to registry; assisted by bonded clerk; estimated saving $200,000 annually.

Transfer of "political appointees" in internal revenue and customs services to classified service; estimate of saving not given.

Consolidation of Lighthouse and li-fing services into Bureau of Light-houses; estimated saving $100,000.

Transfer of vessels and equipment of Revenue Cutter Service from treas-ury to Commerce and Labor Depart-ment and its abolition as a separate service, estimated in message on econ-omy January 17; that saving would be about $1,000,000 a year.

Consolidation of auditing offices of the government under one auditor; estimated saving $200,000 annually.

Discontinuance of mileage allowance for government travel and a per diem allowance for officers and employees in place of "subsistence" which includes lodging for those traveling; no esti-mate of saving given.

Improved method of handling cor-respondence; estimate of saving not given but predicted that labor can be reduced 50 per cent.

Centralization of the distribution of government documents; estimated sav-ing $212,000 a year.

Discontinuance of publication of the of-ficial register; estimated saving $45,000 annually.

"Directly and indirectly" reads the message, "the changes proposed will result in the saving of many millions of dollars of public funds."

The Sioux array themselves for the battle, and with reckless wiliness the pretty Indian woman lures the Cheyenne chief far from the camp. FOLLOW COAL CARS

Southwestern Division Handling Considerable Cement—Other Divisions Again Running Regular.

Business on the Southwestern division is still pretty heavy owing to the large quantities of cement which are being shipped since the coal has been shut off. The cement comes from the big mills at Oglesby Illinois, and is sent through the northern part of the state. This is usually the case after the coal stops but this year the cement cars are coming in larger numbers than before.

The Mineral Point division is still running full blast and extras are still sent over it daily. The South Western division has been reduced to regular trains and very few if any extras are being used at all. Extras are no longer necessary to accommodate business on the C. & N. division and the regular trains are handling everything. Engineer Wright and Fireman Siebert took an extra west yesterday morning at 2:00 and another extra went east later.

Engineers Hillmeyer, Wright, Griffin, Hummel, Bates and Poppleton are laying off today for various reasons.

Engine 1758 is in the shops for heavy repairs today while engine 848 is undergoing a few slight repairs. Engine 760 which has been on the run from here to Davis Junction, is in the shops for an overhauling and engine 763 is being used in her place. Switch engine No. 3 and No. 1066 were sent to Milwaukee this morning for heavy repairs and will be there for some time.

Fireman Wambo returned to work yesterday after being off for a little over a week.

No. 168 was double headed yesterday by engine No. 1371 in charge of Engineer Hillmeyer and Fireman Fox.

Engineer Thomas James left for an extended visit at Hot Springs, Arkansas, last night where he will take treatments for his rheumatism.

Engine number 903 which broke off the blow off valve just this side of Milton on Tuesday and caused the trouble on that road, was taken to the Milwaukee shops on No. 29 last night.

C. & N. W.
Engineer Hillmeyer and Fireman Mahoney took an immigrant train composed of twelve cars through last night on its way to the eastern section of Canada where they intend to settle. The cars were brought to Chicago by the Grand Trunk from different places and there made into a single train which was then sent on its way north.

Switthman Gary is expecting to be at work soon having been laid up for a day or two with a bruised hand received in unloading a bad order car. The two first fingers on the left hand were badly bruised but no bones were broken.

The water supply at the stock yards which has been frozen up for some time has been thawed out and is again in use after considerable hard work and a lot of digging on the part of Thomas Beardon.

DRIVE SHEET PILING
WITH POWERFUL JET

Method Used With Good Success by Fourth Avenue Bridge Crew in Making Forms for Abutment.

Sheet piling for the form of the west bank abutment of the Fourth Avenue bridge is being driven with good success by the use of a powerful jet of water impelled by a steam pump. The pile driver was first used for this purpose but proved unsuccessful, the plank breaking under the impact of heavy hammer. In using the jet method the water is carried down to the point of the pile by a flexible connection and washes away the sand from beneath the weight of the pile driven hammer and shield cap, amounting to about 2,500 pounds. A twenty foot pile can be driven down for half its length in about as many minutes. Most of the time is consumed in setting the pile and moving the pile driver guides and weights. Three hundred feet of sheet piling will be driven on all four sides of the abutment, and after this is completed the portion of the river bed and bank enclosed will be dredged out down to hard gravel and filled up with piles over which will be cast the concrete.

Two crews, numbering twelve men, are now at work on the bridge; one on the abutments, and the other on the steel construction. The latter are setting in place two steel spans and putting in the floor beams, after which they will start riveting.

TO MAKE CHANGES AT THE POST OFFICE BUILDING.

Postmaster Valentine has Received Orders to Advertise for Bids for Work.

Postmaster Charles Valentine has received orders from Washington to ask for bids for the work of relaying the present stone steps on Franklin and Dodge streets at the post office building, repaving the roof and filling in the government property with good rich soil capable of growing trees, flowers or shrubs. The change on the steps will be much appreciated by the public as the present steps are badly worn. They will be replaced with some more durable material.

BIG RETRENCHMENT
FOR LEHIGH ROAD

Tonnage of Road is Seriously Affected by Suspension of Operations in Coal Mines.

Washington, April 4.—"Owing to the suspension of work at both the anthracite and bituminous mines," says an official statement issued here today on behalf of the Lehigh Valley railroad, "and the consequent loss of a large part of its normal tonnage, the Lehigh Valley railroad company has been forced to reduce its working force by laying off train-crews, shopmen and office workers." In addition, improvements and betterments involving the expenditure of many thousands of dollars in labor and material have had to be indefinitely postponed. The duration of the present suspension of work at the mines is still in doubt and therefore it is impossible to predict when the railroad employees will be back to their work.

Pape's Diapiesin Settles Upset Stomachs and Ends Indigestion in Five Minutes.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from indigestion, Dyspepsia or out-of-order Stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapiesin. If your Stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a re-enforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak Stomachs should take a little Diapiesin occasionally, and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the Gas on Stomach or Belching of undigested food, Headaches, Dizziness or Sick Stomach, and besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. All those symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved in five minutes after taking a little Diapiesin.

Go to your druggist and get a 60-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

AMERICAN FENCE

Made of Hard, Stiff Wire, of Honest Quality

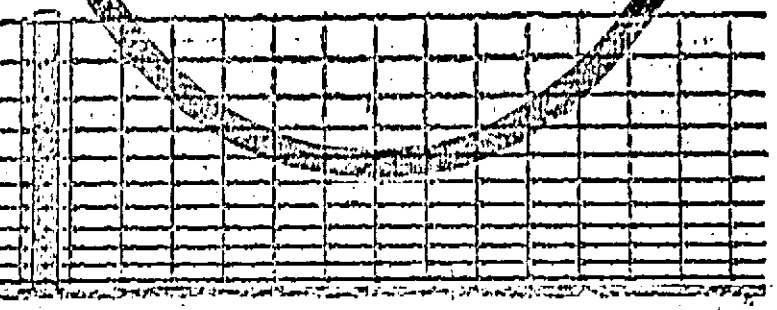

Heavy Fence Means
Long Life

Put the fence you buy on the scales. Any American Fence dealer will be glad to do this for you because he is proud of the amount of steel he can give for the money.

American Fence is a heavy fence. The gauge of the wire is larger. Compare with any other fence. The eye is easily deceived on the size of the wire, so put the roll on the scales and weigh it. This test will convince you that the fence you thought was cheap is most expensive when pounds of steel are considered. Weight in fence means strength and durability, and our years of experience have taught us that the heavier the fence the better. No argument for light fences can dispute this.

American Fence is made of hard, stiff steel. It is made of a quality of wire drawn expressly for woven-wire-fence purposes by the largest manufacturers of wire in the world. Galvanized by latest improved processes, the best that the skill and experience of years has taught. Built on the classic linked-joint (patented) principle, which effectually protects the stay or upright wires from breaking under hard usage.

HOT CROSS BUNS.

"Hot Cross Buns!
The old woman runs;
One a penny, two a penny,
Hot Cross Buns."

Such is the old rhyme which has been handed down from generation to generation and which probably 999 out of every 1,000 English boys know. There are two or three stores given to account for their origin. One of which is, that St. Augustine introduced the idea of a cross on the bun or cake, to impress on the early Britons (then called Angles), the fact of the crucifixion of Christ. Whether this is true or only legendary, the fact remains that the Hot Cross Bun comes amongst us every year in ever increasing numbers, and is probably eaten every year in all the continents of this world of ours. The Colvin Baking Co.
will have an extra supply of these buns. Get your order in early.

GEORGE M. REEFER IS HELD FOR TRIAL

Young Man Arrested on Charge of Obtaining Money Fraudulently to be Tried Tuesday.

George M. Reeper, the young man arrested Monday evening on the charge of obtaining money fraudulently through passing worthless checks, was bound over for trial at ten o'clock next Tuesday morning as the result of an examination conducted in the municipal court by District Attorney Dunwiddie this morning. Besides the check passed on Fred Han, who preferred formal charges against the defendant, and John Weber, Reeper passed a check for $2 on Mr. Grant, proprietor of the Railway hotel, one for $3 on Harry Schmidley, and one for $3 on Phil Sheridan. Reeper may be able to obtain bail so that he can have freedom until his trial. He promised to make good two of the checks but unless he could promise to make good for them all he was told that the case against him would be pressed.

HAVE ACQUAINTANCE WITH ALLEN BROTHERS

Mont and M. H. Shumate, Workers on Fourth Avenue Bridge, Were Neighbors of Virginia Outlaws.

Floyd and Sidney Allen, the Virginia outlaws who "shot up" the Carroll county court house two weeks ago, killing the judge and several court officers, are well known to Mont and
M. H. Shumate, engineer and fireman of the steam windlass used in the construction of the Fourth avenue bridge. They were comparatively close neighbors, living but three miles from the Allen home. The Allens, said Mont Shumate, are "moonshiners" and have never been known to do anything else but make illicit whisky. He was not very much surprised to hear of the crime they committed as they have always been bad reputation. He related that some years ago a revenue officer gathered up a wagon load of volunteers to assist him in locating a "moonshine" still and place its operators under arrest. A few days later the party returned with two or three of its number corpses and without having found the still. The Allens were generally credited with the killings, though they were never placed on trial.
The Shumate brothers left Carroll county fifteen years ago, but have been back several times since, the last time being four years ago. They say it is a common custom for the people of that locality to carry arms, even when they go to church, in order that they may shoot a rabbit or squirrel while on the way. Carroll county is but thirty miles from the North Carolina line.

NEW YORK POLICE TO AID IN SEARCH FOR FISCHER

Edward P. Hughes, Inspector Commanding Detective Bureau, Promises Chief Appleby Assistance.

Edward P. Hughes, inspector commanding the detective bureau of New York City, has written Chief of Police Appleby a letter acknowledging receipt of the latter's letter concerning the search for the postmaster there. Mr. Hughes stated that he has written several letters with a return
for each one to the firm and has received neither goods nor reply. In concluding the letter he says: "I don't care to have any trouble but would like to get my money." It seems that Mr. Wattle is as yet ignorant of the fact that Kanuth recently pleaded guilty to fraudulent use of the mails, and that his correspondence
was taken in charge by the postoffice
department.

WANTS TO KNOW WHAT BECAME OF HIS MONEY

Pasco, Washington, Man Writes For Information About J. F. Kanuth

Benjamin Wattle of Pasco, Wash-

written several letters with a return
for each one to the firm and has received neither goods nor reply. In concluding the letter he says: "I don't care to have any trouble but
would like to get my money." It seems that Mr. Wattle is as yet ignorant of the fact that Kanuth recently
pleaded guilty to fraudulent use of the mails, and that his correspondence
was taken in charge by the postoffice
department.

People on East Milwaukee street were forced to do without city water last night from seven o'clock until two o'clock this morning when the supply was shut off on account of a burst main on the corner of Bluff and Milwaukee streets. The two-inch pipe connected with the fire hydrant in front of the Janesville Car-become frozen and broken, the warm weather loosening the ice and allowing it to flow into the street. As the main at this place are cross-connect-the hill the water had to be shut off at both places and none could be used in between.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

That Mr. Jones will make the most excellent member of the legislature is admitted by all who know him, be he democrat or republican.

EASTER EVENT GOES BACK TO EARLY DAY

Facts Concerning Birth of Christ Determine Date Upon Which Holiday Falls Each Year.

Many persons know that Easter day is a movable feast, but it is probably not generally known how its date is determined.

"Easter day" as an old church prayer book says, "on which the rest of the movable feasts and holidays depend, is always the first Sunday after the full moon, which happens upon or next after the twenty-first of March; and if the full moon happens upon a Sunday, Easter Sunday is the Sunday after."

"But note that the full moon for the purpose of these rules and tables, is the fourteenth day of a lunar month, reckoned according to an ancient ecclesiastical computation, and not the real or astronomical full moon."

Rules for determining the dates of Easter and other holidays are given in prayer books and breviaries, and are interesting but complicated.

In determining Easter, this rule is still followed. It happens that the holiday this year falls on April 7, because this is the first Sunday after the full moon, which occurred on Monday, April 1. According to calculation.

First Mail. The first mail between New York and Boston was established in 1672. The letters were carried by a messenger, who was directed to "go and return as often as once a month." This monthly service seems to have been sufficient for some thirty years, when it was changed to a fortnightly service. In 1693 a well organized system of postoffices was established in Pennsylvania and in other localities.

ITALIAN DELEGATE TO M. E. CONFERENCE

When the Methodist general conference opens in Minneapolis, one delegate will receive unusual honor, both because of what she has done and because of her grandfather, who was none other than the famous Garibaldi, "Liberator" of Italy. Miss Italia Garibaldi will address the conference in English, which language she speaks fluently. She is now in the United States as a delegate to this conference.

An employer of men was inquiring of another employer if he could recommend him two steady, sober men. "Why, you have just come to the right man," was the reply. Utah Claimed For Taft. Salt Lake City, Utah, April 4.—Members of the Republican State Central committee of Utah are rounding up here for a meeting tomorrow to fix the date for the State convention to select national delegates. The Taft men expect to control the convention. There are many "insurgents" among Utah Republicans, but their opposition is directed chiefly against the State "machine," with little reference to the presidential contest. Governor Spry has declared for Taft and the Republican machine is for Taft, together with their newspaper.

China's President ILL FROM WORRIES

Washington, April 4.—Neither the tariff nor blizzard weather seems to affect the importation of lemons. In fact, the foreign lemon trade with such a profitable market in this country that it readily pays the tariff, and at the same time submits to a tax of from five to ten cents per box paid toward a fund which has been used in fighting the tariff and trying to induce congress to put lemons on the free list.

TARIFF AND BLIZZARDS
PAUL IN CURTAILMENT
IN DEMAND FOR LEMONS

A short time ago there was real winter weather in New York—a blizzard and some of the dispatches said; and yet that week the steamships Piedmont and Gullia brought in twenty-three thousand, five hundred boxes of lemons from Sicily and, according to figures the "demand" was quite active, both from local and interior jobbers. As a result prices were from twenty-five to thirty cents higher than last week's close.

On Thursday the Alice, Princess Irene and Gullia brought in thirty-two thousand boxes and prices jumped up again ten to fifteen cents a box more, first bringing $2.75 to $3.40 per box of three hundred, and second $2.30 to $3.05 per box of three hundred. Besides these cargoes the Taurinia brought in eight thousand two hundred boxes, and the Italia thirty-one thousand boxes. The K. Albert was due the 2nd with nine thousand boxes. The Valdes with nine thousand, seven hundred boxes and the Carpathia with fifteen thousand, seven hundred boxes were due the 27th. Besides these there are in transit the Franconia, twelve thousand, four hundred boxes; Oceania, two thousand; Hamburg, twenty-three thousand; Baltic, four thousand; Atlanta, six thousand; Erebus, twenty-eight thousand and Laura six thousand, nine hundred. This makes a total of two hundred and twenty-two thousand, three hundred boxes, or the respectable amount of seventeen million, seven hundred and eighty-four thousand pounds, or about seventy million lemons received and about on route to New York in one week in very nearly the dead of winter. Almost one lemon for each person in the country.

For an industry which has been pleading for favors at the hands of congress, which has alleged that the California lemon was crowding it out of the market because the home grown fruit was better than the imported, which has been paying a tax to try to influence legislation in congress, this seems to be a pretty healthy showing.

Meanwhile the tariff on lemons is adding very materially to the income of the government. It helps pay the cost of running the country and incidentally it is helping develop an industry in this country which will, in time, supply all the lemons the people can use without dependence on the foreign article.

PENSION SYSTEM FOR WESTERN UNION MEN

Manager Fitch of Local Office Has Received Letter Outlining Details of Plan.

Manager Fitch of the local Western Union office has received an announcement from the Chicago office of the pension system which has been perfected for the Western Union employees. The letter outlines the plan in detail and is as follows:

"A pension plan for the benefit of the Western Union Telegraph company's 30,000 employees has been announced by President Theo. N. Vail.

President Vail said: "A pension committee has been compiling statistics and analyzing existing pension plans for many months. While the plan which we are inaugurating does not go as far as we would like to have it, still it is a beginning and we believe will materially assist in caring for these employees, qualified through length of service, who, because of incapacity or disability are compelled to discontinue active work."

"The solution of the problem has not been an easy one in view of the large number of employees, their widely diversified occupations, and the large territory over which the system extends, together with the heavy expense to the company incident to the inauguration of the pension."

"However, it is my firm belief that all employees, identified by years of faithful service, are entitled to some financial protection against the necessity of retirement, and it is the hope of the company that this beginning will extend to a further protection of employees. Meanwhile, the inauguration of a pension plan marks an expression of appreciation on the part of the company of the loyal and efficient service rendered by its employees."

The plan in detail is as follows:
After 20 years of service and up to and including the 25th year of such service one per cent of the average salary for the ten years immediately preceding retirement multiplied by the total years of service.

After 25 years of service and up to and including the 35th year of such service one and one-half per cent additional for each additional year.

After 35 years of service and up to and including the 40th year of such service two per cent additional for each additional year.

After 40 years of service fifty per cent. The minimum pension allowance to be $25.00 per month, except when otherwise directed.

No pension under this plan to exceed $100.00 per month.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

The Magical Power in Every Life

SOMEWHERE in his writings, Tolstol makes one of his characters say that we have an entirely wrong understanding of life, that we misinterpret it, misjudge it, and so miss the very best of it. But he goes on to say that people can't be made to see this or to comprehend it, that it is an almost hopeless task to try to give them the right vision.

But Tolstol wrote this many years ago, and since then thought has been changing. It is swinging around to another viewpoint. We are beginning to get a clearer vision as to what life really is. We are beginning to appreciate our treasure.

Tolstol's character was speaking of the belief of many that the pleasures of life lay entirely in the externals instead of within. We have thought, and some of us think yet, that to get the most out of life, we must possess the things of this world,—wealth, ease, position, fame, that even health, upon which so much of our happiness depends, is a gift from the outside. In a word, that we are dependent upon the powers without for all that makes life worth living. And if these are denied us then we are miserable.

And this character of his saw clearly that all this is wrong, that the joy of life depends really upon ourselves, that there is a magical power in every life to furnish it complete happiness.

And this power is our higher nature, not the lower nature that is satisfied altogether with externals, with eating and sleeping and wearing fine clothes and living in the palace of others; but the higher nature that sees the purpose of life, its eternalness; that can enter into and understand and use the untold wealth of infinite love and infinite good and infinite mind. For all these things are ours to make use of for our good; and when we possess these treasures, the things of this world are paltry indeed. It is a case of hitching your wagon to a star, and when you do this, you'll travel faster and see more than in the speediest auto or swiftest aeroplane.

But as Tolstol's character said, this way of looking at things seems almost incomprehensible to the majority of us. To get this viewpoint means that we must face about entirely. Some do not know how to do this. Others are too fearful. They do not want to let go the known, the tangible, for the unknown and intangible.

But if your life is a jumble, if it is not a success, if you do not find satisfaction in what it has brought you, try this development of your higher nature as an experiment. Look within, to yourself, for your real riches. Open your mind to an inflow of the spirit that will touch you all things. And you will soon possess riches of which you little dream—riches that bring pure happiness that nothing can destroy or take away; and in comparison with which even the fabled wealth of Aladdin seems paltry indeed.

This magical power is in every life. It is in yours. And it awaits but your using.

Barbara Boyd

If too large and cut off the top to make it of the right size and as it times secure what may be called a fit between bag and paper.

In my own experience I see no advantage in baking cake or bread or any of what are called flour foods if raised with baking powder, either in a fireless cooker or a paper bag. In fact they never seem quite as light when cooked in this way.

An interesting item of paper bag cookery is the preparation of dried fruits. Put dried peaches, apples or other fruit into a dish with water to cover and let stand several hours then turn the fruit and what water is not absorbed, into an airtight bag, fold over, pin together and set in a very moderate oven to cook half an hour or more.

The water cannot evaporate while cooking in an enclosed space but is absorbed by the fruit. No other way of cooking exceeds this method with dried fruit.

Women in farm houses, or away from most of the modern conveniences sometimes feel that they cannot put new ideas about housework into use. This is sometimes true, but paper bag cooking is most easily accomplished according to an expert, in a wood stove where the fire may be brisk at first and then grow more moderate which is a condition especially good for both the paper and the food in it.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

SENT to a section of humor, which is the sanest and most certainly available means of escape, mere physical absence has its advantages.

EMERGENCY DISHES.

When unexpected company arrives and a meal must be furnished in a short time, it is well to have for such occasion a shelf of foods that can be quickly prepared. One may can at home chicken or sausages and other meats, which can be quickly reheated and served.

The soups, canned and in tablet form are easily available, and a salad of apples and nuts is one of the materials which are usually in the storeroom.

A dessert may be of cakes or cookies with a dish of preserves, or a pudding can be made and steamed in twenty minutes, served with a sauce made from the juice of the fruit used in it. For example, a most delicious little steamed pudding steamed in cups is made as follows:

Sift a cup of flour with two teaspoonsful of baking powder and a little salt; mix with rich cream to make a soft dough; drop a little in greased cups, add a tablespoonful of canned cherries and another spoonful of dough. Steam for fifteen minutes, setting the cups into boiling water and keeping them closely covered. A sauce made of the cherry juice thickened and a little butter added for richness is very good, or cream is better. Remove the puddings as soon as done, for longer boiling makes them soggy.

The serving and service of a meal is fully as important as the food provided. An elaborate meal put on to the table without rhyme or reason is not nearly so pleasing as a simple meal well served by a calm and happy hostess.

Cold meats, like roast of beef, may be quickly served if one has at hand some of the good sauces to use as a garnish and seasoning for them.

A tomato or two or a can of tomatoes seasoned with onion, pepper and a little green or canned red pepper, a bit of parsley, made hot with cayenne and poured over nicely sliced beef and allowed to simmer with it gently for fifteen minutes is a dish fit to serve before a politician.

Pickles, peanuts and green peas served on slices of orange (peel and all), make a most attractive looking salad and taste as well.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE older I grow the more deeply I am impressed by the intertexture of character—that is, the inevitable effect of self-indulgence and lack of control in any one direction upon the whole character.

For instance, I believe that the child who is freely allowed to give way to his temper in his youth, in time comes out of ten, will be the man who gives free rein to his passion in his manhood.

And conversely, I believe that every time a man exerts control over himself in any way—overcomes passion, restrains temper, gives up some self-indulgence, masters his tongue when it would speak foolishly or unkindly, conquers conceit, or in any way does the harder thing, instead of following the course of least resistance, he strengthens his whole character and increases his ability to do not only that particular thing, but each and everyone of these things again.

It seems to me it is as if a king should make some strong demonstration of his authority against a rebellious faction in one part of his kingdom, and should thereafter find it much easier to control other factions in the rest of his realm.

Let us imagine, for instance, a man whose doctor has told him he must walk more if he wants to keep well and strong and efficient. "Don't swing onto a street car every time you have a few blocks to travel," the physician has warned him. "Walk man. If you don't want to rust before your time, you've got to exercise more."

Let us also suppose that this man has a terrible temper, which all his life he has had to fight to control.

Now some cold unpleasant morning this man comes out of his office to go downtown for his lunch. It is only a fifteen-minute walk, and he knows he ought to walk it, but just as he comes out of the door he sees the downtown car stopping right in front of him and jumps on. Now, I believe that this man, in doing that, has not only weakened his power to obey the doctor's orders another time, but has also lessened his ability to control his temper.

Suppose some other day this man has been put in a most irritating position and has managed to keep his temper. Don't you think that that success will help him not only to control his temper the next time, but also to do the right thing by his health?

I do. And because of this intertexture of character, I believe that mothers who are so selfish that they get their children into habits of self-indulgence do their offspring far more harm than they realize. For the whole texture of the child's character is weakened. Not only will he find it harder to be unselfish, but he will find it harder to control his temper and his tongue, to master his passions or to exert control over himself in any one of the thousand directions in which life will demand it of him.

Perhaps you are laughing at my psychology, and thinking my doctrine of the intertexture of character absurdly strained and overdrawn. If you are, I wish you would watch your own character and see if my theory does not work out true.

Try to see if periods of self-indulgence in any direction do not weaken your control in all directions; and efforts toward self-restraint and self-government in any one direction do not make you more the master of your whole great kingdom.

MADE EQUALS BY LEARNING

With the Same Education, Men Will Lose Their Superiority Over Women.

Rev. Anna Howard Shaw said recently in Philadelphia of an opponent of co-education:

"Perhaps he objects because he is aware that equal education does away with man's superiority. The average man, of course, won't be superior to the average woman when they are both equally well educated. His assertions won't be accepted then unquestioningly.

"Indeed his assertions already are beginning to be questioned here and there. Thus there was a young chap at the seashore last month who on being refused by a beautiful girl said: 'You have broken my heart.'

"But the girl, a medical student, laid her white hand lightly on his breast a moment, and then shook her head and said:

"So, there isn't the least evidence of organic lesion. I notice a slight palpitation, due, no doubt, to the excessive use of cheap cigarettes, but otherwise the organ is quite perfect."

Furniture Polish.

Many people do not know that lemon oil is the basis of all fine furniture polishes. A small bottle of polish usually costs 25 cents. You can buy a quart of crude lemon oil in bulk at a paint shop for 15 cents. For using on furniture proper, dilute with one-third turpentine, apply with a soft rag, and you will have the finest polish you could buy. It is fine to use on hard wood, stained or painted floors. A quart of oil will last nearly two months.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

A ROYAL GLUTTON.

BY A. W. MACY.

Modern readers can hardly conceive the depths of debauchery into which some of the later Roman emperors descended. Vitellius, for instance, made a record for gluttony which has seldom or never been surpassed. He was emperor but nine months, yet during that time he is said to have spent 900,000,000 sesterces, equal to about $34,000,000, in eating, drinking and entertainment. He had three regular meals during the day, and ended with a costly and drunken supper at night. His brother one day entertained him with a banquet, at which 2,000 choice fishes and 7,000 rare birds were served. Vitellius gave a banquet in return, at which one dish, a compound of the livers of pheasants, the tongues of flamingoes, the brains of peacocks, the entrails of lampreys, and the roes of mullets, cost more than the whole of his brother's dinner.

These Two Women's Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Read Their Own Statements.

Cheneyville, La.—"Some time ago when in poor health, suffering from female ill, I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I soon felt better and gained in strength and flesh. A gradual improvement continued as I took the Compound, and from 120 pounds I now weigh 165, and feel that my life has been prolonged.

"I deeply regret that I did not know of your medicine long before I did. Friends often speak of the wonderful change in my health, and I tell them that your medicine did it."—Mrs. J. W. STANLEY, Cheneyville, La.

Distressing Case of Mrs. M. GARY. Chicago, Ill.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for backache and it has certainly made a new woman of me. After my first baby was born I was left a perfect wreck. I was so weak I could hardly do my household duties and suffered with an awful backache. But since I have used your Compound the pains in my back have left me and I am strong again.

"My mother used it also through Change of Life and speaks very highly of it. You can use this letter any way you wish. I think it is only fair for one who has suffered as much as I, to let others know of your great remedy."—Mrs. M. GARY, 2962 N. Ridgeway Ave., Chicago, Ill.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN

OBESITY.

Some authorities, including Dr. Crocco, divide cases of obesity into two classes, those who eat and drink too much and those who eliminate too little. Both factors are, however, operative in every case; and there is another very important factor, exercise. Tissue can be formed only from food, and some foods tend to fat more than others, but everybody knows that obesity or leanness is not proportionate to the amount of food eaten or the kind. All the factors must be considered, though in some cases one or more may be especially important. I have often been asked to outline a diet for the increase of weight in cases in which I have thought the best advice to be, to make no change in the diet for the time being but to have a beneficial change and relief from caring care, without overlooking the fact that worry is due chiefly to physical condition. So one who is over weight should not necessarily depend principally upon diet to reduce, but may get more benefit from systematic exercise. This is not minimizing the importance of diet, but emphasizing the importance of the other factors. No properly informed person will have any confidence in a system of reducing weight that pretends to cure with drugs without exercise and while "eating anything."

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Further Experience and Success in Cooking in Paper Bags.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

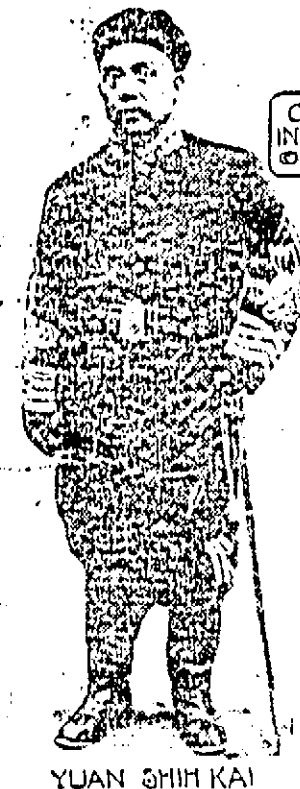

Many cooks have the fixed idea that to have anything really good they must use butter and this is especially true in making cake, but when the fat is to be heated to a high temperature as in frying do not use butter as the great heat develops an irritating acid that is somewhat difficult for the digestion to contend with. It has always been the custom to grease baking pans with butter but the high heat has driven cooks to try other fats which are just as good and especially oil.

Pioneers in paper bag cookery began at first to brush the inside of the bags with melted butter, but later they discovered that it is more economical to use meat or pork dripping and even the fat of bacon occasionally if the flavor is not objectionable with the food being cooked. Brushing with oil is more convenient as it is always fluid.

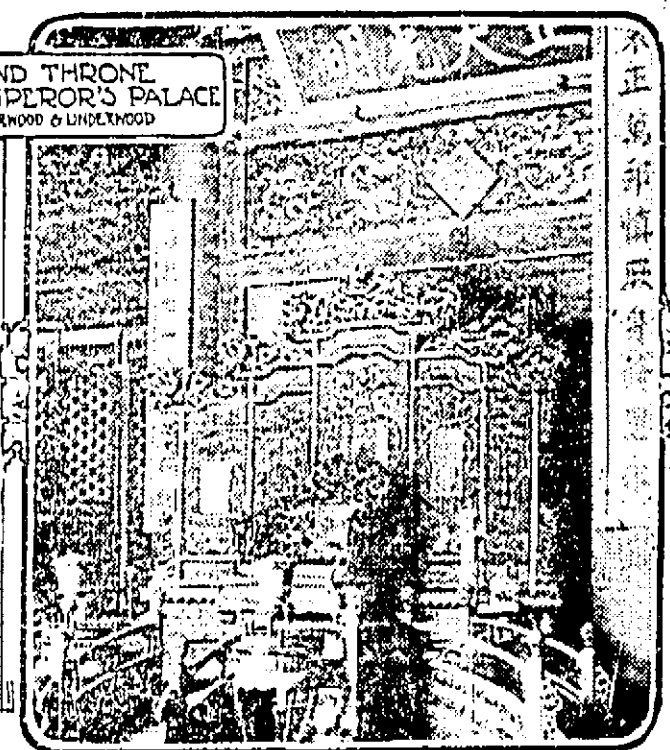

The necessity of oiling or greasing the paper bag in which food is cooked must be reiterated for otherwise the food will stick to the paper and will not serve neatly.

Another point to remember is that the solid shelf of some ovens or the rack with wires for apart is not the right place for cooking food in a paper bag. The hot air must have access to the under side of the bag and so it must not lie on a solid surface but if there are too wide spaces in the rack the weight of the food in the bag might break through. A rack or trivet with wires close together like a bread toaster should be used. Those made for broiling bacon over a pan in the oven are just right for paper bags to rest on.

The novice is likely to take too large bags which needlessly fill the oven; fold the bag under at the side

President Yuan Shih Kai is a prisoner in his own palace and the fate of the Grand Republic of China is at the most critical stage since the revolution started. KILBANE, ATTELL PICTURES.

Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion of the world, since the defeat of Abe Attell at Los Angeles, can make such a good job of it, in no small degree. The claim set up by Attell after the contest that he had been robbed of his title and that the worst he should have had was a draw is shattered all to pieces after a person has watched the pictures from beginning to end.

During the first ten rounds Kilbane made Attell look like a willing player, and from that time until the twentieth round there was never a question as to who would be the winner.

The pictures are the finest of the kind ever taken, and the scenes at the training camps are also extra fine. Abe Attell might have had some chance when backed in his claim by the featherweight champion, Ad. Volgast, but this time he is out of it entirely, for the pictures take away all claim he might set up. You are the judge, satisfy yourself by seeing them at Myers Theatre on Thursday evening.

SENDS LETTER THAT APPROVES OF STAND

A. M. Case, a former resident of Janesville, writes the following letter relative to the attitude that the Gazette has taken on the third term ambitions of Theodore Roosevelt. Following is the letter:

Rockford, Ill., April 2, 1912.

Editor Gazette:

Dear Sir,

There accidentally fell into my hands today a copy of the Janesville Gazette from the period of which I gather the thought that you are opposed to the third term of Theodore Roosevelt.

In this "opposition" you are certainly in "line" with a mighty crowd of the best citizens in your sister state of Iowa. We have in northern Iowa, are almost a "unit" in our detestation of the man who has lost his executive of the nation here as chief executive of the nation here. It is the verdict of all parties here that Mr. Taft has done as well as any man could under the circumstances.

It is a pleasure to see a statesman far ahead of the man who is now making a desperate effort to defeat him.

President Taft is growing more and more popular as the days go by, and this is why the Roosevelt crowd desires the primary vote. They are acute enough to see that the longer the time the more the people will see and understand the true issues of this campaign and one of these issues is the heartless, unbrotherly treatment of "A Friend." Just as he did in the "Hillman" story, he is now a clipping in a closet, explains it, and will bring it fresh to the minds of your readers.

It shows so plainly that friendship, however enduring to most men, must stand aside in the interests of a heart overflowing with selfishness.

Truly Yours,

A. M. CASE.

The clipping referred to is as follows and explains itself:

The Republican today will print a Gazette of the date of March 21, 1912, letter from Mrs. Hillman Storer written in France, September 8, reviewing the controversy between Storer and Roosevelt, concerning the former's alleged authorization of the former ambassador to Austria-Hungary to visit Pope Pius X, and ask him as a personal favor to the president to make Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul a cardinal.

Letters written by Archbishop Ireland in 1905 and 1904, which were published, are quoted by Mrs. Storer to show that at repeated interviews in the White House, between the archbishop and President Roosevelt, he acknowledged that he had commissioned Storer to act as his personal envoy at the Vatican in behalf of the archbishop. Roosevelt has hitherto publicly denied that Storer was ever authorized to represent him in this manner.

There is included also another letter alleged to be written by Roosevelt to Storer, just after the presidential election in 1896, in which Roosevelt asked Storer to see President-elect McKinley, and urge him to appoint Roosevelt assistant secretary of the navy. The last letter seems to refute the recent assertion that Roosevelt never sought public office, except when he sought the presidential nomination in 1904.

Roosevelt's letter to Storer, dated November 17, 1896, concerning the desired appointment as assistant secretary of the navy follows: "I've been thinking over that business and now will you let me write perfectly frankly? If you care to say anything for me, old fellow, I think you could say it better a good deal if I were away. So, unless you think to the contrary, or unless there is some reason for a change, I believe that it would be best for me to come and dine with you, and then you would see McKinley by yourself, if you care to do so. Give my best love to Mrs. Storer. Faithfully yours, Theodore Roosevelt."

"P. S.—I hope you won't think this impertinent. I should rather have you speak than anyone in the United States, and I think you could do the most good, but I rather hate to go there with you, for, somehow, it does not seem to me that it would be a good thing for you to speak for me before me."

Introducing the Spark Plug

"Battle Axe," "Glimax" and "Old Honesty" a few years back were the plugs most talked of. But nowadays all a fellow hears about is this new "Spark Plug."

And speaking of the general improvement of things today over those of years ago, we'll have to admit that the general behavior of "plugs" hasn't improved much.

This new Spark Plug can cause about as much distress and uneasiness to the beginner as his forebears, "Old Battle Axe," "Glimax," et al.

This Spark Plug is, also, a necessary evil. Particularly is it necessary to the finished performance of an ambitious automobile.

Sometimes they break, split or something or another, making the "spark" jump in a million places where the gas "ain't." Simply another case of misdirected energy.

Reminds us of some merchants who are not using a good reliable "Spark Plug" in their business. They are the victims of a whole lot of misdirected energy.

Moral:--

The Gazette is a quick and sure to the point sparker, at all times going to the most fertile field from which the greatest amount of "business getting" energy will be derived.

WHAT DID SHE MEAN?
"Say, Ma, can't you tell fairy tales?"
Asked Hobby, just turned nine;
"No, son," his mama grimly said,
"They're more in papa's line."

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

BY WALT MASON

The foreign wrestler took this shore and say they've come to waste in here. They want to show us what a bore is our great champion F. Gaten. And Farmer Gaten rears up and cries: "You're talking me, and bling your eyes, you'll have to throw this husky Turk—so ahead your rage and get to work!" And then the foreign athlete still, and say that isn't fair at all. "My dying granny," one exclaims, "when in her final throes and pains, observed my sacred promise that I'd meet you Turk upon the mat!" "Meet Mahmoud!" thunders one, "He-deed! I don't endorse his church or creed; his grammar's rotten and they tell that he can't hardly read or spell!"

THE BEEF TRUST
"I am," says one, "the whole blamed works, at wrestling, but I won't meet Turks." They stripped your Abdul of his crown and chased the old man out of town and made a burden of the lives of fifty-seven of his wives. I'd be indorsing such a game if I climbed over Mahmoud's frame." And scornfully the wrestler laughs, and poses round for photographs, and hands out threats both loud and deep, and makes the sporting public weep, I'm tired of lions and their roars, the lions from the foreign shores, who show, when they have growled a few, they're only fit for rabbit stew.

He Knew Him When.
"Why do you hate him so? Has he ever done anything or said anything to injure you?"
"No, but, confound him, I can remember when he had nowhere near as much as I had—when, as a matter of fact, I didn't always care to recognize him."

Not Too Many Visits.
Mrs. Banks—Why do you have Dr. X for your physician, instead of Dr. Y?
Y—Miss Burke—Economy! Dr. X's wife is so jealous he has to get me cured quickly in order to keep peace in his family.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

THE EARTH.

By Howard L. Rahn.

The earth is a round ball which has been heating a tortuous path around the sun for several years with out bucking any body off the right of way. The earth is said to be 91,200,000 miles from the sun, although there are times when it seems to be closer. When the earth is nearest to the sun it is said to be in perihelion. People spell this word with two P's in the dog days. Adam was the first inhabitant of the earth, and he lived so well that he hung on until he was 930 years old and beat all the fraternal insurance companies then doing business. Everybody thought the earth was fat; Christopher Columbus sprang the egg trick on Ferdinand and Isabella. This trick would have been more successful, we are told, if the egg that Christopher used had not lived so long. History relates that immediately after the egg broke Ferdinand lost interest in the proceedings and retired to a quiet spot to sprinkle a little perfume on his moustache. Isabella stuck it out, however, and pawned a bright new Waterbury watch in order to enable Columbus to come over here and teach his trick to some of our after dinner speakers. The earth is now inhabited by a large number of people who are well pleased with their location, some of whom lived a good deal longer than the neighbors consider necessary. It produces a great variety of crops, including political bunk and personal candidates. The earth is held in place by the force of gravity and supported by an old gentleman named Atlas, who has a muscular development which makes Sandow look like an amateur patient after six free treatments. It is a very pleasant place to live in and most people separate themselves from it with unbecoming regret.

A Witness.
"Although I am positive you saw Jimson take your umbrella just now, you made no effort to stop him."
"Well—or, you see, Jimson happened to be standing by when I got that umbrella."

Real Comfort.
Patience—I suppose your father takes much pleasure in his library?
Patience—Oh, yes; it's the only place where he is allowed to sit with his feet, higher than his head.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Gazette, April 4, 1872.—St. Louis—The police raided on a recently re-opened keno house at a late hour last night. They captured one hundred and sixteen players, attendants and spectators. All of the paraphernalia of the house was seized.

A man in Columbus swallowed his false teeth some time ago and has them in his stomach yet.

The third annual fair of the Southwestern Wisconsin Industrial association will be held at Mineral Point, September 4, 5, 6, and 7, 1872.

Work on the Wisconsin Central railway, from Stevens Point toward Lake Superior, is being prosecuted with great vigor and the gentlemen in charge of the enterprise are confident that only about sixty miles will remain to be completed next season. The road from the Junction to Superior is well under way, about four hundred men being employed on the line with an increase in the number probably as soon as the fine weather sets in.

Prof. S. P. B. Morse, the inventor of the electric telegraph system, died at his home in New York on Tuesday evening.

The medical men of this city hold weekly meetings to discuss the new disease—cerebro spinal meningitis. Workmen are preparing the M. C. Smith's cellar, on the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets, for the foundation walls.

Dr. Harris wants us to state that his semi-aquatic monster will be on exhibition at the council rooms tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock for the inspection of the board of trade and city fathers. He wants somebody to start a steamboat factory in this city so as to supply rolling stock for the proposed Evansville railroad. Navigation will be open over that line all winter.

Mr. Bird: Been to a woman's rights meeting, eh? The next thing you'll expect me to lay the egg!

Taking Care of It.
"Would you call that government official a conservationist?"
"I should say so," replied Farmer Cornstock. "He has made one office last him nearly a lifetime."

In These Strenuous Times.
The man who thinks before he speaks has to think fast to keep his ideas from being back numbers.

A Permanent Benefit.
J. L. Southern, Clerk Eau Claire House, Eau Claire, Wis., reiterates his statement that Foley Kidney Pills cured him. He says: "Several years ago I wrote you of my remarkable cure by the use of Foley Kidney Pills. One of the worst features of my trouble was sleeplessness. Now to show the lasting benefit of Foley Kidney Pills, after all this time I have had no return of the kidney trouble and I sleep soundly. I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to lots of people who repeat the great good they do them." Hader Drug Co.

HINTS AS TO CARE OF LITTLE CHICKS WHILE IN BROODERS

Chicks Hatched in Incubation Require Careful Attention During Time Spent in the Brooder.

(By P. J. Holt.)

The coming three weeks will find many chicks being hatched. Some of them will be produced under the old hen while many will be hatched by incubators. But the manner of attending to these chicks will be entirely different. No one must think that the chick that is artificially hatched must be cared for in the same way that the hen hatched one can be. There is as much difference in these two classes of birds as there is in the old-fashioned way of raising calves with the mother and the modern method of the bottle.

The first essential to obtain good results is to hatch the chicks in a well regulated and properly heated incubator. Be sure that your incubator is correct and that the eggs are properly cooled and that plenty of fresh air is obtainable at all times. Then when the chicks hatch do not take them from the machine until they are thoroughly dry. In fact, it is a good thing for chicks to be in the nursery tray for thirty-six to forty-eight hours. Then they may be removed, but when they are taken from the machine they must be put into a place where the temperature is ninety-eight degrees so that they will not be chilled.

The brooder should be warmed up at least twenty-four hours before the chicks are put into it. When you are perfectly satisfied that the temperature is what it should be and that the ventilation is working correctly place the chicks in the brooder. Place a little chaff on the floor and if you can obtain some good straw or if you have a piece of straw which it will be a wise plan to place some of it upon the floor, also as the little fellows will begin scratching in it at once and will also eat some which will serve as grit. Be sure and change the litter every day so that it will not become damp or moldy.

Do not be in a hurry to feed. Most of the poultry raisers of prominence do not feed the youngsters anything until they are at least forty-eight hours old and many wait until the bird is seventy-two hours old. This is done so that the yolk of the egg will surely be digested by the chick before it eats any solid food. This yolk is absorbed by the chick long before hatching and the food material is plenty for some time after the chick is hatched. If fed too soon bowel trouble will start.

The most important thing to remember is to give baby chicks a little food at a time and often instead of a great deal at one time and feed but three times a day. Do not give more than they will clean up for if any is left it becomes spoiled. The older the chicks become the coarser the feed that you may give them. When they are three weeks old they will eat the cracked wheat easily.

Do not start in by feeding wet mash. There are more chicks killed each year through the feeding of wet feed than by any other method. If you have fed the wet feed heretofore try the dry method this spring and see how many more chicks you will raise to maturity. Give them rolled oats for the first week and then begin the feeding of any good commercial chick feed. This feed has the correct proportion of the various grains and in the proper size. Give them but a little of the feed at a time and regulate your feeding by the chick's hunger. It is better to have them hungry than to have them too much, for in the first case they will continually scratch while in the latter they will stand around and have a good chance to get chilled.

Supply good fresh water at all times and be sure it is not too cool in these early weeks of spring. Keep this water clean all the while and allow the chicks to have free access to it at all times. If the water dish becomes dirty wash it out carefully. Have a fountain that will not allow the chick to get into the water and thus save much of the trouble of washing out the dishes a number of times daily. If you do not have such a fountain a simple watering outfit is made by inverting a can in a saucer. Have a few holes in the side of the can near the edge that sets in the saucer and just enough water will flow to keep a small supply in the saucer all the while.

Get the chicks out on the ground as soon as possible for nothing will give them that strength that they need so much as old mother earth. But in order to keep them away from rats and cats it will be necessary to build small fences around their brooder and then see to the closing of the brooder each night.

Lower the temperature of your brooder from day to day, but be sure that a sudden change of weather does not catch you with the temperature too low.

Keep the chicks free from lice at all times. This can be done by careful watching all the while. In the brooder the chicks will not be so apt to have these little pests attack them as when they are with the hen but the farmer must be sure and look out for them just the same.

Keep in mind that the principle factors in raising chicks by the brooder method are heat, fresh air, sunlight, cleanliness and plenty of room. Overcrowding will only result in nature stepping in and reducing your flock to its proper size. Open the brooder every day that it is possible so that the sun can shine into it and thus the brooder will be dry and any germs that may be there will be destroyed. Keep all litter out and the ventilation good. Then watch the chicks carefully so that they do not get chilled and your brooder chick will thrive.

One of the great successes of the Philo system is the keeping of dry hens before the chicks after they are a week or ten days old. This gives the chick frame and that is what you want to build from the start. Also keep grit and charcoal so the chicks have free access to it.

GUATEMALA WARNED BY SECRETARY KNOX TO OBEY TREATIES

for its products, and with its dense population occupies indeed an enviable position among the Central American nations. This position will be rendered increasingly desirable as time goes on and the development of your country's enormous possibilities is accomplished. And Mr. President, I may here remark without, I am sure, including any view not equally shared by yourself, that the continuous development and permanent advancement of the republic depend on its stable economic conditions as well as upon its domestic contentment and consequent repose. The unvarying friendship of the government of the United States for the republic and its desire to see them prospered free from interference are too well known and understood to need words of reassurance from me. From the very inception of, and even before the independence of the Latin-American nations, the attitude of the American government, which later was unmistakably announced by President Monroe, was well known and it continues undiminished to the present day.

In Central America the United States has a special interest not only because of the proximity of the five republics to the great commercial highway now nearing completion in Panama, but also because of its moral obligations under the Washington conventions. The maintenance of peace and stable conditions in these republics is a matter of first importance to our government. The faithful observance of those conventions with the opinion of our government, go far towards the elimination of the turmoil that has hitherto shaken the very foundations of some of the less fortunate and less tranquil countries.

In conclusion, Mr. President, allow me to indulge the hope that the relations between our respective countries may become increasingly cordial, and close, to the mutual benefit of both.

This speech if published here, as it probably will not be, may reassure a good many who have admired the secretary because of his part in breaking the tyranny of President Zelaya of Nicaragua and some of whom, unfamiliar with the necessities of diplomacy, must have been bewildered to see this champion of republicanism supporting the legitimacy of the most notorious dictator now tolerated under a pretense of popular government.

An editor of a newspaper asked if the government censorship was so severe, replied: "No, there is no censorship. It is unnecessary. The editor understands perfectly what the government wishes published or not published." The city has two papers recognized as official organs and a third, "La Campana," the unorthodox "opposition" weekly. The latter bold voice of the people spoke the only word of dissent regarding the American mission. In its issue of two weeks ago today, a copy of which was surreptitiously furnished for inspection, Mr. Knox was described as a bird of ill omen and its readers were advised to drop their windows in black on the day of his advent in the capital. Inasmuch as every intelligent Guatemalan knows that "La Campana" is also secretly directed by the government as constituted in the person of Cabrera, its attitude offers a subject of speculation. Perhaps it was a rip for the "antia," and possibly like the appearance in public of the President, it was intended to direct attention to the freedom of republicanism in Guatemala on the same theory that a partial adulteration is stronger sometimes than an unequivocal denial.

Late tonight many of the street arches were stripped of their decorations by vandals. It was explained. A similar incident occurred upon the last night of Admiral Swinhorn's visit some years ago, and no political significance was to be attached to the matter, the camp followers of Knox were told. Indeed, no significance, political or otherwise, is to be attached to anything done in Guatemala without the express direction of the President.

A few years ago the entrance to the palace where the correspondents were received this afternoon was spattered with blood when William Holmke, now American minister to Salvador, called to prosecute his errands to Cabrera. A company of cadets, at a pronounced signal, had fired upon the President as he appeared in the doorway. They were young and nervous and their aim was bad. Cabrera received a bullet through a hand which he had raised to protect his face. The palace guard alarmed at the sound of firing, fell upon the cadets before they could raise again, and there followed a massacre that no Guatemalan will describe truthfully. Twenty-five or thirty cadets were killed on the spot, but so quickly were the bodies removed that when Mr. Holmke drove up a few minutes later only pools of blood in the court yard remained to tell of the tragedy. The captain of cadets who escaped the onslaught was promised his life if he would reveal the identity of the master mind of the conspiracy, but the young officer told the President, so the story runs, that he would not do so. Not one party to the plot, weakened, but the widow of a slain cadet, out of gratitude for financial assistance from the government, turned over certain personal effects of her husband, and among them, innocently, some correspondence. It is alleged, which led to wholesale arrests. It is said that in the year following the attempt five hundred lives were exacted in retribution for the bullet wound in Cabrera's right hand.

The most recent known attempt upon the President left him unharmed but cost the life of his coachman, who was a party to the plot of one or two others, and the wounding of a general who was in a carriage with the President. The coachman had been instructed to stop the presidential carriage at a certain point where a mine was to be exploded beneath it. He made the error of stopping not over the explosive, and upon its discharge, was blown to pieces with the team.

In justice to Cabrera and his methods, it should be added that under his rule, Guatemala has prospered in peace, while some republics, notably Nicaragua, have all but died to death from self-inflicted wounds. Its better class are intelligent and fine looking. The public buildings are works of art and the schools are a credit to the country. Strange enough, many Americans in the capital, while prepared to admit almost any accusation against the President, defended his rule and asked how otherwise could he control two million people, three-fourth of whom are half-breed Indians? These cynically pointed to Mexico, under Diaz, and Mexico now, adding, "After Cabrera, what?"

Men That Do Women's Work.

Among some of the American Indian tribes of the southwestern United States, says a writer in Wide World Magazine, there is a curious custom of men occasionally assuming the work of women as a life occupation. This, when it occurs, is voluntarily undertaken, and seems to be due to a preference for feminine labors, the man enlisting his identity as far as possible by assuming woman's garb.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

WORSE THAN DEATH.

"My friends, you may laugh sometimes at old things like the law and religion when the say 'Thou shalt not.' You and I may think that was written for old fogies, but what they say we shall not do we cannot do without suffering. I have learned the wages of sin is death. It's worse than death—it's hell on earth."

That was the utterance of Lumber Sydnah Noble, who eloped from her husband, a millionaire of New York, with Frederick Noble, a plumber, and afterward, being divorced, married Noble.

The sequel?

Noble and his new wife committed suicide by lying down together before a gas range and turning on all the jets.

The excitement of the elopement was over, the newspaper notoriety at an end, the final divorce papers granted. Three weeks before the suicide Noble and Mrs. Sydnah were married, and the life of the runaways settled down into humdrum, monotonous living.

It was then Mrs. Noble uttered the truthful words about law and religion and sin and death and hell.

Poor woman!

There was added to her suffering "sorrow's crown of sorrows"—remembering happier things. She admitted the man from whom she had run away was the only man she had ever loved or ever could love.

"I've never loved any other man but Walter, but to put myself right before the world I feel I should marry Fred."

For her it was hell on earth.

And for Noble little less.

There was no goodness to find in the other. All the interest each had discovered had been exhausted by clandestine meetings. She had cut herself off from the only one she loved. And now that he had won her Noble did not love her.

It was worse than death for both.

When will men and women ever learn that two and two are four and cannot by the very nature of things be three or five? When will they learn that "sin and punishment grow on the same stem?"

Law is not law because it is bound in a leather book; it is in the book because it is law. Punishment for sin is not true because it is in the Bible; it is in the Bible because it is true.

"Thou shalt not" means what it says.

It is not "written for old fogies" alone, but for foolish, perverse young women and men as well.

Well, That's Different.

"Meeting a king is well worth the price," says a prominent Philadelphia woman. "That's all right, but did she ever meet one with three others?" Philadelphia North American.

PRUNE APPLE TREES AT ONCE IS ADVICE

Professor Allen B. West Gives Some Timely Hints in regard to Care of Fruit Trees.

"Prune your apple tree now" is the advice given by Professor Allen B. West, instructor in agriculture at the local high school, in an article containing some timely hints as to the care of trees in the spring season. Professor West writes as follows:

"Now is the proper time to prune your apple trees. Do it before the growth starts, while the trees are dormant. The first year's pruning of a young apple tree has left three or four branches and unshortened main stem. The second season's pruning should treat each branch as a separate tree, cutting away a third of the new growth and leaving about three branches, somewhat shortened, and well distributed.

"The pruning for subsequent years will consist in removing superfluous shoots and cutting back the new growth that is left. Branches that cross each other should be removed. Too many branches should not be allowed to grow in the center of the tree, as it is desirable in Wisconsin to keep the head quite open to permit the entrance of sunlight.

"If you have trees that are neglected and look like a brush heap, you may have a look at them. Do not attempt to trim the superfluous limbs all out the first year. First cut out the dead wood. This should be followed by removing the water-sprouts or suckers that have arisen from the main branches. You may also cut out branches from the top so as to let in the sunlight. Next year you will repeat the work you have done this year and open up a little more the sides as well as the tops of the trees. It might be well also to clip the ends of the longer branches so as to keep the head well rounded."

Too Busy to Be Interrupted.

"Why didn't you notify Mrs. Wom but that her house was on fire?" "Well, I went over there for that purpose. But she's a rather keen bridge player, and I couldn't get an opportunity to interrupt the game."—Washington Herald.

Consent Always Obtained.

"A court of common council of London, England, found after informal investigation of charges made that 'no officer of the corporation ever played golf in business hours without the consent of the head of the department.'"

Commercial Dishonesty.

The London chamber of commerce has gathered evidence showing that there is a growing disposition to misrepresent the nature, origin, quality, quantity and value of goods offered for sale, both at home and abroad.
